

Return On Investment

A Cost-Effective solution to mobile working

OE Office Everywhere has been developed for the medium to large enterprise with a significant mobile workforce. A 200-user installation can cost from as little as £1 per day per user.

Return on investment will be realised very quickly through increased employee productivity, better client relationships and enhanced responsiveness. Just 30 minutes extra productivity per day equates to over three weeks per individual per year.

By reducing “dead time” whilst travelling or providing employees with the flexibility to work from home, the productivity gains can far outweigh the costs and in some cases may even prove to be a negative expense.

Mobility

To ensure that a modern enterprise retains its competitive edge is widely recognised that it is vital to harness a more flexible and mobile workforce. Indeed Corporate Mobility is an essential component in improving responsiveness to client needs and new business opportunities. Ensuring that our employees are working productively while mobile is equally problematic and creates difficulties for traditional remote access solutions over universal access and security.

Studies conducted by the DTI illustrate that personal productivity improvements in greater flexible working methodologies can be as much as 40%. Oe – Office everywhere is the key that can unlock the additional value locked inside a static workforce and ensures that a business can achieve its strategic goals.

OE Office Everywhere is the key that can unlock the additional value trapped inside a static workforce and can ensure that a business achieves its strategic goals.

Flexibility

To harness increased productivity therefore improving responsiveness it essential that employees access the key business applications that support our business strategies.

Access to information and the need to work collaboratively and flexibly with colleagues and partners alike, demands real time solutions that work to support the goals of the business. OE Office Everywhere integrates securely and easily with corporate systems to extend the boundaries of the office to everywhere – Office Everywhere

“The idea of mobile working is simple: it means giving people the tools to let them work anywhere at any time.”
